One Day Webinar on Mobile Marketing

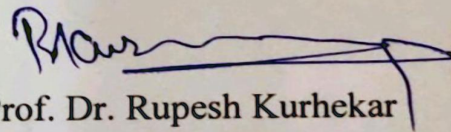

On dated 24-10-2020 Department of Commerce organized on Mobile marketing on politics & Morality. On this occasion Prof. Dr. Pravin Kulkarni was key- note speaker on this webinar.

The objective behind this program, 'Mobile marketing' today is all of us use the mobile, from the grassroots to the educated, and to all sections of the community. The first thing you need to know is whether the place where you are going to get the goods is alive or whether someone will cheat you by taking advantage of you.

The Mobile can be easily and simply bought through mobile online marketing in the same way that you would buy any item in the daily market, and once you order a small item, you will not have any difficulty in using any item later but also a large number of educated people use it. People are confused about whether to order things or not but today we are living in the age of information technology and technology so it has become very important for you to know all these things and to have a perfect knowledge of it. But today we see that while using social media or information about a place to get live or highlights of what happened here, mobile is also being used extensively, so if you want to take advantage of it or buy some items, use this mobile We need to focus on how it will benefit us.

On this occasion our Hon. Principal Dr. U. V. Navalekar sir share important views.

54 students participated in this webinar and vote of thanks is given by Prof. Dr. Rupesh Kurhekar
